

EIGENVALUE PROBLEMS IN GROUP REPRESENTATION THEORY

ALEXANDRE ZALESSKI
UNIVERSITY OF EAST ANGLIA - UK

Abstract:

Studying properties of individual group elements in group representations is important for various applications. In this talk I focus on studying the degrees of minimal polynomials of a group element and the existence of eigenvalue 1. After a short overview of this research area, I shall state some open problems and results obtained.